Dear Manuel,

Thank you for meeting with me yesterday.

Please find attached a letter regarding the outcome of the grievance that you have lodged against your supervisor, Professor Peter Thorn.

Kind Regards,

Richard

Privileged and Confidential - Letter to MG - 3 March

...refused. There was nothing in the terms to direct you to perform teaching duties in Behavioral Neuroscience. The reason for my determination is that your written offer of employment with the University provides no indication that you are prohibited from performing teaching and related duties,

It also does not prohibit me from doing brain surgery but can I do brain surgery on that basis?

Are students not entitled to be taught by experts in their field?

Why attend university if that is not guaranteed?

That's why I refused to teach outside my field. It would be both unprofessional and unethical.

In some manager's mind it does not matter and that must change.
